

VILLAGE OF PORT ELGIN.

The village of Port Elgin is pleasantly situated on the banks of the bay of the same name, 5 miles from Saugeen, and about centrally situated in the township of Saugeen, and surrounded by a good agricultural county. A considerable portion of the township business is done here: it was first surveyed in 1853 by Messrs Hilker, Schantz, Stafford, and Bricker from which time it has rapidly increased in prosperity and business. It has a good shipping harbor, with some extensive and valuable warehouses, and in the summer it has daily connection by steamboat with Goderich and Southampton: it has two mails daily and two tri-weekly, and can boast of 5 churches, the Methodist, Mennonites, United Brethren, Presbyterian, and the church of the New Jerusalem; 2 schools, with a good attendance of pupils, a commodious town-hall; and a lodge of Good Templars, numbering about 50 members: it contains 4 stores, 3 hotels, 1 job printing office, 1 brewery, 2 tanneries, 1 woollen factory, 1 foundry, 2 saw-mills, 1 grist mill, 5 boot and shoe shops, 1 harness shop, 1 tinsmith, 2 tailor shops, 2 waggon shops, 3 blacksmith's shops, 2 cabinet makers, 1 match factory, 1 shingle factory, 1 pottery, 1 milliner and dress maker, and 1 physician. Population about 630.
